Take the “Good or No Good” quiz.....	6
Defining a “sale” of goods .....	7
Time to play “Deal or No Deal” .....	8
The relevance of Article 1 to Article 2 contracts.....	8
Article 1’s guidance on how to construe Article 2.....	8
Why § 1-103 matters .....	9
Why the triplets matter: understanding course of performance, course of dealing and trade usage.....	13
The triplets described .....	13
How to find the parties’ course of performance.....	13
How to find the parties’ course of dealing .....	14
How to find trade usage.....	14
Chapter 3. Five Pillars of Article 2 Construction.....	17
Pillar one: never divorce the Article 2 contract from its commercial setting.....	17
Pillar two: merchants are held to higher standards.....	18
The two ways to qualify as a merchant for Article 2 purposes.....	19
Pillar three: unconscionability doctrine applies to abuses during the formation stage of an Article 2 contract .....	19
Unconscionability defined .....	20
Never divorce the question of what is unconscionable from the contract’s commercial setting .....	21
Unconscionability is a determination of law, and therefore freely appealable .....	21

If the court deems the contract or any clause contained therein unconscionable, it has three options .....	21
Example 1: applying unconscionability doctrine .....	22
Pillar four: abuses during the performance stage of an Article 2 contract are regulated by good faith doctrine, which is set forth in § 1-201(20) .....	23
Example 2: applying good faith standards .....	24
Pillar five: the UCC favors the practical over the formalistic .....	24
Chapter 4. Formation of an Article 2 Contract .....	27
The Article 2 formation of contract checklist .....	27
The ingredients of a valid Article 2 contract for the sale of goods .....	29
First, the offer .....	29
The firm offer: § 2-205 .....	29
Use the following three step analysis for assessing a merchant's firm offer .....	30
Example 1: the firm offer .....	30
The second ingredient of a valid contract for the sale of goods: acceptance .....	31
The three takeaways from § 2-206 .....	32
Example 2: acceptance .....	33
What to do when the terms of the offer and terms of the acceptance differ: apply § 2-207 .....	34
The context .....	35
The three questions to ask when the terms of the offer and terms of the assent vary .....	35
First, has a contract been formed no matter that the terms of the seeming assent deviate from the terms contained in the offer? To answer, apply § 2-207(1). .....	35
Second, if the assent does qualify as an acceptance, thereby locking in a deal, what becomes of its variant terms? To answer, turn to § 2-207(2). .....	36
Third, if the parties' writings do not establish a contract but their conduct does, turn to § 2-207(3). .....	37
Example 3: the battle of the forms .....	37
When the contract for the sale of goods must be in writing to be enforceable: the statute of frauds: § 2-201 .....	39
The context .....	40

The purpose of the statute of frauds .....	41
The three step approach to use when applying the statute of frauds .....	41
Step one: Is this a contract for the sale of goods for $500 or more? .....	41
Step two: Is there a sufficient writing or writings to authenticate the contract? .....	42
Step three: Do one of the following five exceptions to the writing requirement set forth in § 2-201(2) and (3) apply? .....	42
Example 4: the reply doctrine .....	43
The parol evidence rule: when a party tries to contradict or supplement a final contract’s terms: § 2-202.....	45
The three takeaways from § 2-202 .....	46
Telling the difference between partially integrated and fully integrated contracts .....	47
Factors to consider to determine the extent of the writing’s integration .....	47
Why the extent of the contract’s integration matters .....	47
Still . . . ..	48
Thus, to assess admissibility under the parol evidence rule the court engages in two tasks.....	48
Example 5: applying the parol evidence rule .....	48
Post-contract modifications: § 2-209 .....	50
The context.....	50
Three important takeaways on post-contract modifications.....	51
Example 6: post-contract modifications .....	52
Chapter 5. The Content of the Article 2 Contract .....	53
The approach to use to discern the Article 2 contract’s terms .....	53
Working with Article 2’s gap-fillers .....	54
When price is unspecified: § 2-305.....	55
When time for delivery is unspecified: § 2-309 .....	56
When place for delivery is left open: § 2-308 .....	56
When the manner of delivery is unspecified: § 2-307.....	57
When the time for payment is unspecified: § 2-310 .....	58

Chapter 6. The Gap-Fillers That Excuse Seller from the     Contract .....	63
The context.....	63
How to apply excuse doctrine.....	63
Impossibility of performance: § 2-613 .....	65
The context.....	65
A three-step technique to apply when contracted-for goods suffer casualty .....	66
Step one: Are the goods contracted for “identified” to the contract? .....	66
Example 1: identifying identified goods.....	66
Example 2: identifying identified goods.....	66
Step two: If the contracted-for goods are identified to the contract, have they suffered damage or devastation through no fault of either party? .....	67
Example 3: finding fault .....	67
Step three: Has the casualty to the identified goods occurred before the risk of that loss passed to the buyer? .....	67
§ 2-509 applies to answer the question of when the risk of loss passes from seller to buyer .....	68
§ 2-509 provides four answers to the question “when does the risk of loss pass from seller to buyer?” ....	69
Impracticability of performance: § 2-615 .....	72
The context.....	73
Example 4: impracticability doctrine .....	73
When the means of delivery or payment fails: § 2-614.....	74
The context.....	75

The consequences of acceptance: § 2-607.....	104
The context.....	104
Four important consequences of acceptance .....	105
Example 3: the consequences of acceptance .....	106
A buyer who accepts cannot reject but can try to revoke
that acceptance: revocation under § 2-608 .....	107
The context.....	108
Revocation's two elements: substantial impairment in value plus a valid justification for buyer's
decision to accept nonconforming goods .....	108
The procedures for revocation .....	110
Example 4: revocation of acceptance .....	110
When goods are nonconforming and seller has not accepted, buyer is within its rights to reject the tender: rejection under § 2-601 .....	111
The context.....	111
Buyer can reject for any defect: "the perfect tender
rule" .....	112
Rejection compared to revocation .....	112
Example 5: rejection .....	113
Procedures for rightful rejection: § 2-602 to § 2-605 .....	113
